ICEF 3992/HOLTON/61 - Mothers look on while baby is being weighed at Maternal and Child Health clinic near Qalyub.

The Ministry of Health in United Arab Republic (Egypt), with international aid, is attempting to strengthen and expand its rural health services, established in 1942. Additional rural centers will provide, in addition to health-center services, school health and out-patient clinics, in-patient departments, sanitary and hygiene services, preventive health and ambulance services. The United Nations Children's Fund (UNICEF) has provided basic equipment, mid-wifery kits, public health nurse equipment, drugs and diet supplements to the centers. The World Health Organization (WHO) gives technical advice.
